

are still there.

BB – Right, I am sorry that there is a disruption in the communications and we probably should have warned you in advance but...

PB – Not really. There is no point me knowing before Dan knew.

BB – No, we should have warned you, I mean, when Dan knew... in any case you know now and you can talk to me in his place.

PB – Right.

BB – So, there is some continuity to our conversations and I have your proposal in front of me which I haven't read yet but I just wanted to let you know that I am the guy that you can talk to.

PB – We kind of picked that up. We actually spoke to somebody else in Dan's absence. But I think he might be gone as well.

BB – Who is that?

PB – I actually can't remember his name.

BB – Everyone else is here. German Mikhailov?
