

ond-
vial)

change

When you
see a sign
that says
"No Parking"

The first
step is to identify the
problem
and then
to determine
the cause
of the problem.
Once the cause
is identified,
the next step
is to develop
a plan of action
to solve the problem. The final step is
to implement
the plan and
evaluate the
results.

There are
many factors
that can
affect the
performance
of an organization.
Some of the
most common
factors are
lack of communication,
poor leadership,
and inadequate
resources.

Effective
communication
is essential
for the success
of any organization.
It allows
employees to
share information,
coordinate their
efforts, and
solve problems.

Leadership
is another
key factor
in organizational
performance.
A good leader
inspires and
motivates
employees to
achieve their
best.

Resources
are also critical to organizational success. An organization
must have
enough
financial, human,
and material
resources to carry out its mission.

Finally,
evaluation
is an important
part of the
management
process. It
allows managers
to measure
the progress
of their
organization
and make
adjustments
as needed.