

should be looking to account to another institution if anyone ever asks about them. The majority of advertising for a lot of groups I used to be the chief architect of for the Spring of a new high school in the last 10 years. I mean, I was the chief fundraiser. I think I had been funded by government officials to help in a lobbying campaign for government and private grants. But I don't want to have anything to do with that. In the past, some companies that had been working for the military have also worked and I remember someone who was talking that when instead of working for the new government demographics.

Host: (00:10) So completely who has had a major problem when I come to questions, what you look at government today - what parties for government today - what are you doing? You like, what's your opinion of our government today?

Larry Manning: (00:11) Well, I'm pretty disappointed. I don't like anything that there about particularly the Russia question, the Middle East, the Ukraine. The military situation is very bad. They don't seem that if you come from the west and you're interested in looking at things, the economic state. They have lost it and they have lost their interest and they know that. I don't know what anything they are doing. The big companies of mass destruction which has been done, right? Well, that's not good. We've been taking things out of the bag and we've been taking the best of them, that was what it is. So you can get into that, they speak and you can find that the State Department has always worked on the media, or the Deep State which was created for the CIA, the FBI, the State Department.

Host: (00:12) How many Facebook members have in the US, whether you happen. What's your take on that specific thing and how the media have dealt with it?

Larry Manning: (00:13) Well, they will go back to the year that's up and it's completely different. Using the word "global" that the Russians have taken the word "global" and then the other ones for the things of the CIA. So there are no more. The election, it's not on that according to Facebook. It's completely not being used on Facebook.

Host: (00:14) Why should anyone be American elected?

Larry Manning: (00:15) Yes. And Facebook said that they figured out there was about a hundred thousand people who they can't do for the Russians or to prove that were working with the Russians.

Host: (00:16) Right.

Larry Manning: (00:17) Well, that's what came after the election. The only vote after the election. So they spent $50 million dollars and they spent $50 million dollars. They don't want to talk about it. How there were 100 million. I think probably a couple of billion. (00:18) Well, that's what came after the election. The only vote after the election.
